HOW HE WAS GIVEN AWAY

Father And Son Talk Different Dialects!

A simple story told by two persons, in different dialects, led to the revelation of a kidnapping crime which had a sequel before the Kowloon Magistrate yesterday. The strong sense of suspicion and intelligence on the part of a Kowloon-Canton Railway watchman, stationed outside the railway tunnel, near Kowloon Tong, led to the arrest of the kidnapper, Ip Sul, aged 38, unemployed, who was charged with the crime yesterday and was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment by Mr. K. M. A. Barnett.

It was alleged by the prosecution that early on the morning of June 8, while complainant, Li Chung-fat, aged 13, was watching the sale of flowers in the flower market, near Boundary Street, Kowloon Tong, defendant approached him and asked him whether he would like to go to Wai Chow with him. The boy replied in the negative, but defendant took him by the hand and led him away towards the railway embankment. On their way defendant bought a banana for the boy. They then climbed over the fence and proceeded on the railway toward the tunnel at the end of Kowloon Tong. Defendant then told the small boy that if anyone should enquire about their relationship he was to reply that they were father and son.

Finally they reached the tunnel, and while attempting to cross it they were stopped by the watchman whose duty was to prevent people from passing through the tunnel.

WILLING TO BE BANISHED
The watchman asked defendant where he was going, and Ip replied, in Hak Ka dialect that he was going to Po Kut, in Chinese Territory. The same question was put to Li Chung-fat, and he answered in Cantonese.

The suspicion of the watchman was aroused by the fact that father and son should speak in two different dialects. He detained the parties and telephoned for the police. Investigation later proved that the watchman's suspicion was confirmed.

Prior to his being convicted of the crime defendant told his wife that he would be willing to be banished for life from the Colony if he would be allowed to go free on the charge. His wife remarked that the Court had no power to banish anyone.

MOTOR SUMMONSES

Mrs. Witham, driver of private car No. 4126, pleaded guilty by letter to a summons against her yesterday. Mr. W. Schofield registered a caution "as the case was not a very serious one."

Miss Mak Ching-ham was fined $5 for causing an obstruction in Chater Road with her car on June 11 between 3.15 p.m. and 4.45 p.m.

A week's remand was ordered against W. Stoker who did not appear in Court to answer a summons brought out against him, for parking overtime in Connaught Road on June 14.

RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY

Sentences totalling four months' imprisonment with the option of a fine of $200 was imposed on Fun Tsat, mistress of the Yeh Nam bicycle shop at No. 74, Nam Cheung Street, Shumshuipo, for receiving bicycle and part of bicycles which were alleged to be stolen property, by Mr. K. M. A. Barnett, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

SIX MONTHS IN GAOL

Yu Fuk, aged 25 years, made his appearance before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday charged with the larceny of two beds and six wooden partitions from Ventris Road. Sergeant Allen stated that the defendant went into No. 22 Ventris Road and stole the two beds. A padlock was then put on the door, but on June 23 it was found to be broken, and that the partitions had been stolen. The defendant was arrested the same night and the property was recovered. A sentence totalling six months' hard labour was imposed on both charges.

SUMMARY COURT CLAIM

Pending Divorce Mentioned

Mrs. Sylvia Doris Reville appeared before the Pains Judge, Mr. Justice R.E. Lindsell, at the Supreme Court yesterday, claiming from her husband, Mr. John Reville, the sum of $50 arrears of maintenance.

The claimant was represented by Mr. J.T. Prior, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, while Mr. Peter H. Sin appeared on behalf of the defendant.

Opening for the claimant, Mr. Prior made a submission to the effect that the action was founded on a separation agreement and notice had been filed of a defence to which he would strongly object on the ground that it was not relevant.

Outlining his case, Mr. Sin submitted that he had three defences. Defendant's hardship, claimant's breach of separation agreement, and claimant's misconduct.

With regard to the first defence Mr. Sin said that on account of his client's having had to deposit security in respect of a divorce action which was pending and of his income being only $300 per month of which $150 had to be paid to his wife, Mr. Reville was unable to pay the amount claimed, adding that there was hardship when the agreement was drawn up.

HEARING ADJOURNED

On account of plaintiff's not relying on the Court ordering specific performance of the agreement, His Lordship ruled out the hardship defence, to which line Mr. Sin agreed to abandon.

Taking the next defence Mr. Sin said that plaintiff had nullified the separation agreement by a breach of the clause enabling defendant to see his children, adding that claimant refused to give defendant permission to take the children out, thus breaking the separation agreement which entitles defendant to do so.

Proceeding on to the third defence, Mr. Sin contested the claim on the ground that misconduct on the part of the plaintiff was an equitable defence, on which he was prepared to put his client in the witness box.

Mr. Prior submitted that the clause which claimant was alleged to have repudiated did not bear the construction defendant had placed on it, but meant that, in the event of his taking children out, he must take them back to the claimant by evening.

The hearing of the case was adjourned to 11.30 a.m. to-day.

FORGED NOTES CHARGE

Li Yau-shan, a Chinese dentist, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday charged with being in possession of two forged Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank $5 notes and one $10 note, at 264 Queen's Road Central.

Mr. M. A. da Silva, who appeared for the defence, stated that the defendant got possession of the notes in the course of his business. After evidence had been heard the case was adjourned until Friday July 2, at 11.45 a.m.

STEALING LETTERS

A Chinese Naval Cadet, Pan Tse-jing, residing at No. 181, Wuhu Street, was the complainant yesterday when a 37-year-old unemployed Ko Wing-yuen was charged before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy with attempting to steal four letters from the letter box outside his house on Thursday. A fine of $10 or one month's imprisonment was imposed. Sergt. Paton prosecuted.

POLICE REPORTS

The loss of jewellery valued at $187 from No. 165, the Peak, between May 25 and June 6, has been reported to the Police by Mr. G. S. Kennedy-Skipston, the District Officer (South).

A man, Ohai Chen, aged 27, was knocked down by private motor car No. 4511 in Waterloo Road near Argyle Street on Thursday. He received injuries to his head and feet and was taken to the Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

ROBBERY CHARGE

Further Evidence Recorded

The case in which three Chinese men were charged with robbing To Hock of $1,100 in Shanghai currency was again before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

Mr. D'Almada appeared for the first and third accused and Mr. S. Ng Quinn for the second.

Sergt. Fraser gave evidence of the report being made at the police station by complainant who was accompanied by first defendant.

Sergeant Fraser stated that after hearing the story told by the men he decided to hold the first defendant in custody, at which the complainant protested at the defendant being detained, because he had known him for several years. But when told that the defendant had to be kept in custody for enquiries the complainant offered to bail him out with the $800 he had left. At 7 p.m., the first defendant took witness and two Chinese detectives to an address at Mongkok where he said they could find the man who committed the robbery. On arriving at the place they found that the man was living there but had left the house early that day, and had not returned. The defendant then took witness and the detectives to No. 111, Lockhart Road, but the man could not be found there.

The defendant took the police to his own house at No. 4 Yu Yuen Road, where witness waited near Shing Wo Road, while the Chinese detectives accompanied the defendant up to his house on the first floor. After five or ten minutes had elapsed the detectives returned with the defendant and another man, who was the third defendant. While proceeding by car to the police station the third defendant handed a packet containing $500 to witness.

The detectives then went to No. 111, Lockhart Road, after they had taken the third defendant to the station, and returned, with the second defendant, who took them to his house where he produced $250 which was hidden under a bed.

After further evidence the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday, June 29 at 2.30 p.m.

The Proven STOMACH REMEDY for Bad Cases

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pain can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of "Bisurated" Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of "Bisurated" Magnesia in a little water produced complete relief in cases where numerous other remedies had failed entirely.

Simply take a teaspoonful of the powder in a little water. The moment this soothing draught reaches the distressed stomach it begins to soothe the sour, fermenting undigested food. The contents of the stomach become fluid and settling on walls to the sensitive stomach lining. The pain instantly lessens and promptly disappears. By following up the treatment after each meal, your harassed stomach will soon be contented and your digestive system will not suffer from the acid and relief every meal without fear of wind and pain.

A NOTED ENGLISH DOCTOR SAYS:

"I And that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."
H.G. — M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

ANOTHER DOCTOR SAYS:

"'Bisurated' Magnesia gives excellent results and is the ideal remedy for stomach pains and acidity. It is particularly recommended for Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Stomach Pain, Flatulence, and even Stomach Ulcers."
H.L. — Faculty of Medicine, Paris.

The Monastery

(BY SCRUTATOR)

We concluded last week with the statement that there is something of the monk in all of us. Monasticism developed in four clear stages:

(1) The man whom we may call the first monk is nameless. He had no abbey or monastery; he wore no uniform; he did not even separate himself in any obvious way from other Christians.

He lived in that period of the "minor peace of the Church" when Christianity was a minority religion; when it really cost something to be a Christian; when therefore, all Christians were more alive than they are to-day to the difference between a Christian and an unbeliever. Christianity was then itself "a child of the desert"—opposing the Roman Empire in that it renounced the world. In those days the average standard of Christianity tended to be high.

NOT HIGH ENOUGH
But even so, for some Christians it did not seem high enough. There were some too, who even among their own fellow-believers, perhaps, but sincere, aloof, but self-sacrificing; careless of the world, but eager unto Christ. In short, the first monk was the Puritan of the early Church. The movement towards monasticism was born in a spirit not unlike our own seventeenth century Puritanism. That same spirit is always, in greater or lesser degree, in all kinds of Churches, Roman Catholic and Protestant alike, and in the sects and sections of them.

(2) The second stage came a little later, when the Puritans actually broke away from the Christian community and made a complete renunciation of the world. This was the hermit stage of the monastic movement; but although most of the protesters became hermits, the fact that is of most importance is the spirit of their renunciation, because even in the earliest days there were some ascetics who did not live alone. Some had fellow-believers with them. Some even trained disciples in their way of renunciation.

Now Christianity is always in a very real sense renunciation and escape from the world; but there is a right and a wrong way of escape. And when a man goes off on his own to be a Christian he may become a good one, or a shockingly bad one, according to whether he is striving to be like Christ, or unlike other men.

Some of the hermits indeed went far astray—poising themselves on top of high pillars, hanging in baskets from trees, digging themselves in up to the neck in trenches for whole days at a time, to harden their bodies and cultivate their souls. But it is useless to spend time considering these futile, insanitary, and repulsive extravagances which, among a section of mankind, won for some of them the name of saints.

INSPIRING EXAMPLES
There are other more inspiring examples. Antony, for instance, heard his call to a holy life in the Gospel passage "Go and sell all that thou hast and give to the poor." He renounced everything. He went to extremes in trying to stifle his true family affections; but going out into the desert he did achieve a worthy measure of attractive holiness. He taught disciples. He did not repel visitors and enquirers. He fasted, but he was not indiscreet in his severities. He loved Christ truly and when he died he would have none tell where he was buried, lest he should be venerated instead of his Lord.

So while many of the hermits are better forgotten, those like Antony, or Pachomius, or Basil, those who did not repel others by their ways of seeking Christ, those who saw the dangers of isolation and independence and solitary self-torture, will ever be remembered, because it was through their pioneer work that the next and most worthy phase of monasticism resulted.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST.

Subject and Text

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, June 27, will be: "Christian Science."

The Golden Text will be: "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." (Isaiah 11: 8).

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust. And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ." (II Peter 1: 2-8).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals may seek the understanding of Christian Science, but they will not be able to glean from Christian Science the facts of being without striving for them, this strife consists in the endeavour to forsake error of every kind and to possess no other consciousness but good. Divine metaphysics is now reduced to a system, to a form comprehensible by and adapted to the thought of the age in which we live. This system enables the learner to demonstrate the Divine Principle, upon which Jesus' healing was based, and the sacred rules for its present application to the cure of disease. Beholding the infinite tasks of truth, we pause, wait on God. Then we push onward, until boundless thought walks untrapped, and conception unconfined is winged to reach the divine glory." (Pages 322, 146, 323).

CATHOLIC NEWS AND NOTES

St. David's Lily

The appearance of the daffodil on the English stamps for the first time brings into debate again the use of this national emblem for Wales and the origin of its name. Though we are commonly told that the word comes from "asphodel" or something like it, we are also told that the word is really a corruption of "David's lily," the flower of the Welsh national patron. At any rate we know that it once had that name. The lily which is the more ancient national emblem is also connected with the national patron, for tradition tells that it was St. David who told the Welsh soldiers in their great battle against the Saxons to wear the lily in their caps to distinguish them from the enemy—a device which helped greatly to their success. St. David was a celebrated Abbot of the sixth century, and tradition says that he was Bishop of Caerlon. He has been distinguished with the title of "Sovereign over the saints of the island of Britain."

It is not often that Catholic Bishops write novels, but this is the accomplishment of Monsignor Francis Kelley, Bishop of Oklahoma City and Tulsa, in America. The principal characters in his book, which is called "Problem Island," are a score of children orphaned by the great San Francisco earthquake, taken to a tiny South Sea Island by a wealthy philanthropist, and reared to manhood without a knowledge of God. "My ambition in writing 'Problem Island,'" the Bishop explains, "was to try a new experiment in attraction. How to Cure Your SKIN ERUPTION

Why suffer humiliation from the scrutiny of passers-by? If your face is marred by a disgusting eruption, an angry rash, or unsightly blotches, a course of Cuticura treatment will quickly clear you skin. Healing starts with the first application. Itching, irritation and smarting stop instantly. Pimples begin to dry up and rashes fade, your mirror shows a visible improvement each day until, in a few days, scarcely a trace of the disfigurement remains.

MICHAEL STROGOFF

An adventure picture offering a wealth of excitement, a tender romance, some of the most spectacular scenes ever photographed and entertainment which should find favour with father, mother sister and brother comes to the screen of the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres, first showing to-day, in "Michael Strogoff."

As millions who have read the famous story will recall—and here, for once, is a film version of a book that faithfully follows the original plot "Michael Strogoff" concerns itself with the perilous journey of its hero across Siberia and through hostile Tartar patrols to reach a besieged Russian army at Irkutsk with the Tsar's orders for the campaign. A beautiful girl befriends him; he is trapped, battles river pirates, is captured and tortured by the Tartars, but with the aid of the loyal girl, attains his mission and a thrilling revenge over the Tartar leader.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

The versatile Robert Taylor comes straight from the arms of Greta Garbo in "Camille" into the embrace of Jean Harlow in "Personal Property," which opens to-day at the King's Theatre.

In support of Miss Harlow and Taylor there are Reginald Owen, Una O'Connor, Henrietta Crossman, E. E. Olive, Cora Witherspoon, Maria Shelton, recent Hollywood discovery, Forrester Harvey, Lionel Braham and Barnett Parker.

"MODERN TIMES"

Charlie Chaplin Sued For "Film Piracy"

Mr. Charles Chaplin has been charged with stealing ideas and sequences from the famous French film "A Nous La Liberté" for his production of "Modern Times" in a suit filed in the New York Supreme Courts by Films Sonores Tobis, Societe Anonyme.

The French company demands that it should receive all the profits derived from the Chaplin picture.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Chaplin studied the French picture—produced in 1931 under the direction of Rene Clair—and included large portions of the plot for his own film. It declares that the conveyor belt scene in particular was "pirated" from the French film.

COBRA IN A BOOKCASE

The librarian of the public library at Manner, Ceylon had a narrow escape from death when he arrived early in the morning to open up the library for the day.

As he opened one of the biggest bookcases he saw a coiled cobra, just about to strike. He had just time to spring sideways and called loudly for help. His assistant came to the rescue with a crowbar and the snake was killed. It is supposed that the snake crept in and coiled behind the books on the previous day. Finding itself imprisoned it was prepared to attack as soon as the cupboard was opened again.

NUN'S BEST SELLER

Of all people the least likely, one would imagine, to write a "best-selling" novel would be a Dominican nun. Yet it has happened. "Brother Petros' Return," by S.M.C., has proved an instantaneous success, and a member of the publishers (Chatto and Windus) said that it has received the best send-off of any first novel they have published for the last four years. The publishers decided to publish the book within two days of receiving it. More remarkable still—when the proofs were sent to "The Daily Mail" they waited only one day before offering to make it their "Book of the Month."

The novel, is short, but extremely well-written. It deals with a Benedictine monk who goes into a trance in the 16th century and is placed in a vault for dead. Four hundred years later the monastery is again in the hands of the Order, and Brother Petros is brought round. Although the plot is half-fantasy, half-parable, it is so skillfully handled that it gives it an intense air of reality.

"WITCH-DOCTOR" ARRESTED

Women Invoke Dead To Restore Lovers

The Neapolitan police have raided the house of a "witch-doctor" who invoked the dead in order to induce lagging lovers and neglectful husbands to resume their affections.

A seduce was in progress when the police broke in. A table covered with a black cloth was set up in the centre of a mysteriously lighted room. On the table was a skull.
The clients—all women seeking restoration of their lovers—danced slowly round the table to the guitar music of the "witch-doctor." As they danced they touched the skull and invoked the dead to induce the fulfilment of their desires.
The foolish women were all conducted home by the police, local gaul.

THE DUKE OF WINDSOR

Although by renouncing his rights of succession the Duke of Windsor also renounced his rights to the title of "His Royal Highness," there is every reason why an exception should have been made in his case to allow his use of the designation, writes a Rome correspondent. And it does not seem that there is a very good reason why the use of the courtesy title should have been made.

It will be very regrettable indeed if it comes to be generally thought that the Duke is not being treated with the consideration he deserves. But the lower status to be accorded to the future Duchess, taken in conjunction with the fact that no members of the royal family attended the Duke's wedding, can hardly pass unnoticed.

NO NEW REPORT TO MAKE

Situation In Spain

London, June 24.
The Foreign Secretary told Commons at question time to-day that he had no material developments to report on the Spanish situation, but in subsequent answers he made several points. Asked about the movement of German warships he said, "I would like to suggest to the house that the reports on German movements eastwards into the Mediterranean should be received with great reserve. Official information which has been received by the Admiralty does not confirm it."

He also stated that he had been in touch with the International Board for Non-Intervention and understood that they had received no information whatever to confirm the report of the arrival of Italian troops in Malaga and other Spanish ports. He added that His Majesty's ships to whom patrol duties in the Malaga area had been assigned had made no report tending to show any such development had occurred.

Lord Cranborne also gave information on Spain. Recalling the facilities which His Majesty's ships had provided for the evacuation of non-combatants on numerous occasions, he said he was informed that negotiations were in progress between the Spanish Government and the International Red Cross for the evacuation of a large number of women and children from Madrid.—British Wireless.

REVIEWING THE SITUATION

London, June 24.
The British Government is carefully considering the situation arising from the Italo-German withdrawal from the naval control scheme, which has been operating in Spanish waters, but no decision will be taken without the approval of the Non-Intervention Committee.

It is pointed out that when the British Ambassador to Berlin visited Baron von Neurath yesterday he had been instructed to point out that any violent German action might produce a grave situation, but in an early stage of the conversation Baron von Neurath declared that it was Germany's intention to confine action to withdrawal from the control scheme.

The reports of the landing of Italian troops at Malaga and an extensive movement of German warships to the East in the Mediterranean was discounted by Mr. Anthony Eden in the House of Commons. He said that British ships on patrol duties in the Malaga area had made no report to show such a development had occurred, neither were the rumours of German warship movements borne out by Admiralty reports.

NO ANXIETY FELT
While the situation arising from the withdrawal of Italy and Germany from the control scheme remains under close consideration in London, no grounds are felt for anxiety. Baron von Neurath's assurance that Germany did not contemplate any further action was considered satisfactory and no indications had been received that German warships in the Mediterranean will be used for any other purpose than the legitimate protection of German shipping.

The explanation that the latest movements of German warships had been occasioned by the need to relieve ships which had been for a long time on patrol duties is received in British circles as not being unreasonable. The general position at present is described as a "lull".—Reuter.

RESOLUTIONS OF APPRECIATION

London, June 24.
Earl Baldwin was presented with a volume containing 558 "resolutions of appreciation" passed by the local party organisations at to-day's meeting of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations.—British Wireless.

VAN ZEELAND IN U.S.

Talks With Mr. Hull

Washington, June 24.
M. Paul Van Zeeland, Prime Minister of New Zealand, who is in the United States on a delicate economic mission, informed Reuter to-day that in two talks with Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, so many subjects had been disclosed requiring consideration that he would see the American Minister again on Tuesday.

GENERAL AGREEMENT
M. Van Zeeland said that on most points they were in complete agreement, though they had not envisaged definite commitments.

It is learned from most reliable quarters that Mr. Hull and M. Van Zeeland agreed a general economic conference was ruled out by existing conditions and the necessity of not risking another failure like the London Economic Conference.

However, M. Van Zeeland said he was convinced that some measure of American collaboration was indispensable to a European settlement, though neither party had ventured to suggest what form this assistance might take.—Reuter.

MARRIAGE BILL

London, June 24.
The Bishops of Britain mustered in force this afternoon at the House of Lords when the Marriage Bill came up for second reading.

The Archbishop of Canterbury said he could not honestly vote against the second reading, though he could not vote in its favour because some of the principal proposals of the Bill were inconsistent with the Church's attitude towards divorce, and certainly remarriage after divorce.

No-one seriously suggested that the law of the state permitting divorce should be repealed. The existing law had given rise to notorious abuses, notably with respect to so-called "hotel bill cases," in affording proof of adultery. This grave sin was not a result of passion in such cases, but a miserable episode in mutual arrangement, amply assisted by solicitors for the parties.

He hoped, said the Archbishop, that the Bill would be amended in some respects in committee.—Reuter.

NON-INTERVENTION COMMITTEE

Berlin, June 24.
The next session of the Non-Intervention Committee, it is believed here, will take place next week.

In view of the general political situation, it is thought that the position will be received, and it is also thought likely that the question of recalling the foreign volunteers will be raised, probably by Britain.

Germany will most probably be represented at the meeting by Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop, whose presence in Berlin is only temporary and of a very short duration, being merely of informative character and for the purpose of making a report.

Should, contrary to expectations, Herr von Ribbentrop not be back in London in time to attend the Non-Intervention Committee meeting, he will be represented by Minister Woermann of the London German Embassy.—Transocean News Service.

NO MYSTERIOUS DESIGN

Berlin, June 24.
"German warships in Spanish waters have no secret and mysterious design, but are there merely to protect German shipping," it was stated by Naval authorities in answer to the persistent rumours about the activities of German warships in Spain.

"In view of the recent developments, it would be irresponsible to leave German shipping unprotected in the Spanish zone. The comprehensive German statement published yesterday sufficiently explained the German position."

Regarding the numerical strength of the German fleet in the Mediterranean, it is pointed out that a decision on a reduction of increase of German Naval Power in Spanish waters depends upon the further developments.—Transocean News Service.

London, June 24.
Mr. K. J. Savage, Prime Minister of New Zealand, left England to-day on his return home from attending the Coronation and Imperial Conference.—British Wireless.

MRS. PUTNAM FORCED BACK TO BANDOENG

Bandoeng, June 25.
Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, circling the globe by plane with three companions, was forced to return here to-day for repairs. She was heading for Port Darwin.

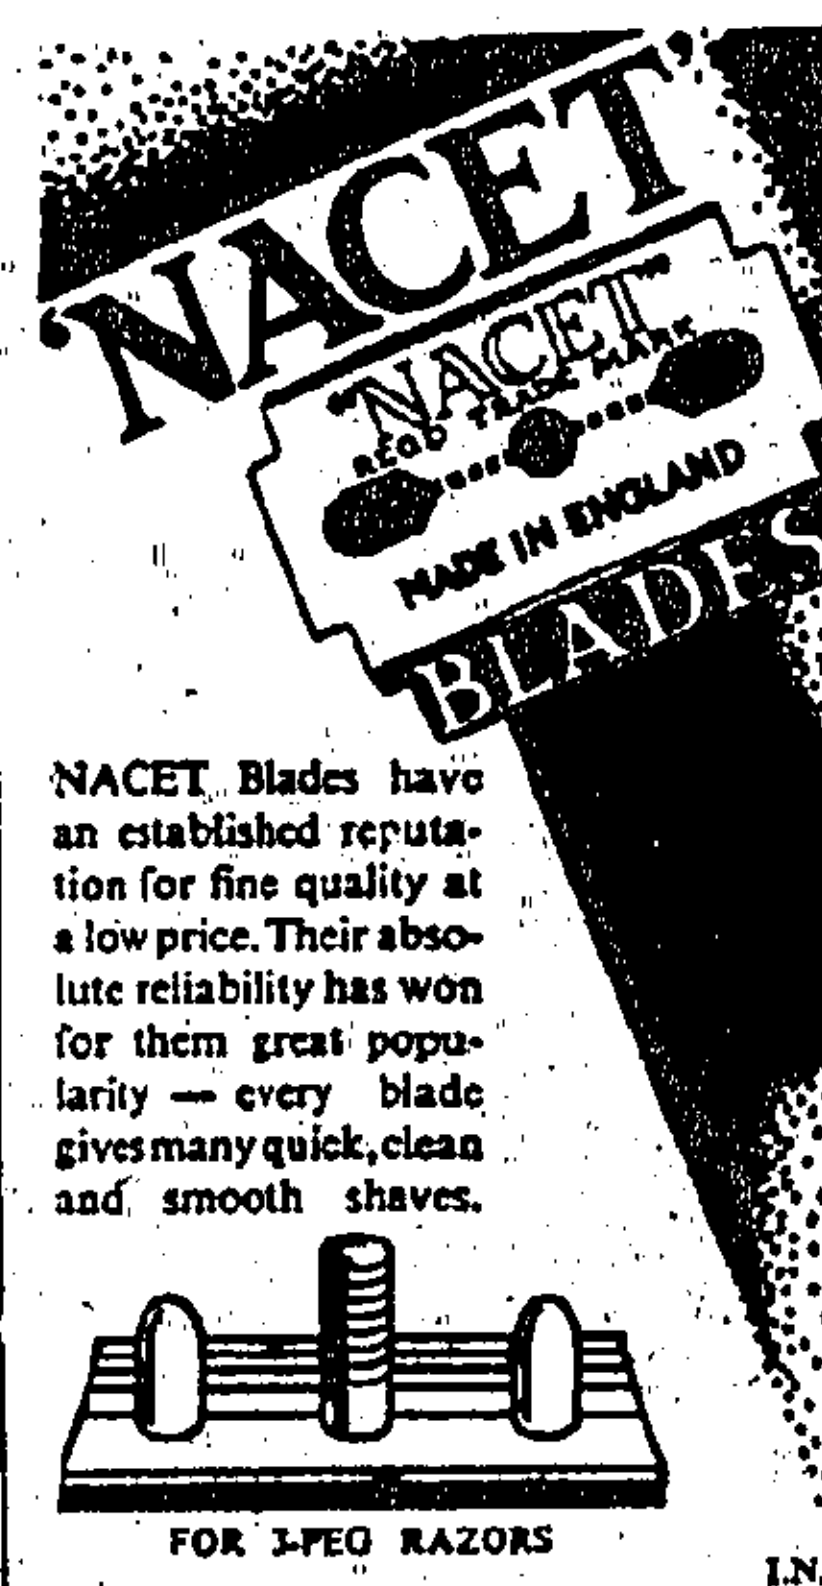

The time for her next take-off is uncertain.

Mrs. Putnam plans to fly to Port Darwin, and then across Papua's high mountain chain to Lae, famous airport of the New Guinea goldfields. From there her route is out over the Pacific to Howland Island, thence to Honolulu and so San Francisco.—Reuter.

DECLINE OF BIRTHRATE

Vienna June 24.
The decline of the birth rate in Austria has reached such catastrophic dimensions that the Federal Council passed an anti-abortion law to-day, making the existing regulations very much more strict.

In the preamble to the law it is pointed out that during the year 1936 the number of births in Vienna alone declined by about 14,000.—Transocean News Service.

NEW AIR SERVICE

The first Eurasia Aviation Corporation plane is due to arrive in Hongkong on Tuesday to link up the Colony with the Corporation's service, but it will not be for another week before the service proper is started.

His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, Mr. N. L. Smith, C.M.G., will probably be at Kai Tak Aerodrome to welcome the new plane, but there will be no speeches, the event, being quite informal in character.

From next week, there will be a bi-weekly service, maintained by the Corporation's tri-motored Junkers planes, which will arrive on Tuesdays and Thursdays and depart on Wednesdays and Fridays.

In addition to maintaining a regular service between Hongkong and Peking, via Canton and Shanghai, facilities will be provided by the Corporation by which it will be possible to link up at Canton with the South-West Aviation Corporation planes to Hanoi, and thence by Air France machines to Europe.

Fares to be charged will be $25 to Canton; $250 (National Currency) to Shanghai; and $280 to Peking, with reductions for return trips.

The Eurasia Corporation's service will, with those provided by Imperial Airways, Pan-American Airways and China National Aviation Corporation, result in seven planes leaving Hongkong every week.

HEALTH RETURNS

Three cases of diphtheria, four of enteric fever, one of paratyphoid fever and three of dysentery were reported to the Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended on Thursday.

BOMBERS FOR THE R.A.F.

Production At High Speed

The Fairey Battle medium bomber, the fastest single-engined bomber in the Royal Air Force, is being built in large quantities at the new factory of the Fairey Aviation Company at Stockport.

On June 8 a big new assembly shed was opened at the Manchester Airport at Ringway, which is to serve as the aerodrome for the testing of Battles as they emerge from the works. The occasion was marked by a tour of inspection of the works, which are to contribute largely to the expansion of the Air Force and to the simultaneous increase of its striking power by providing it with aircraft of greater capacity and range.

The task of these works, supplemented by the production of similar aircraft in the "shadow factory" of the Austin Motor Company near Birmingham, is therefore one of turning out aeroplanes which are new in their type of construction as well as design at high speed.

STREAM OF AIRCRAFT

The sight of dozens of Battles in various stages of completion at one end of the huge workshop gave a sense of reassurance concerning the stream of aircraft on which the new squadrons may rely. "One has never before seen in one workshop so many fuses for the building of fuselages or so many fuselages ready, or nearly ready, to have the wings bolted on to them. Looking down on them from a store gallery, one fancied that about 100 hobby horses were waiting to be fitted with their saddles."

How these fuselages and the wings that are ready for them came into existence may be seen in the other parts of the vast works, where many processes which ought to be done by machines have still to be done by the hands of skilled workmen, because the supply of machines or of steel figs is lagging behind the demand. Slowly the work of construction is passing from the condition of laborious output by craftsmen using hand tools to the state in which nearly all the shaping and machining is done mechanically, and the manufactured parts are simply put together by men and women using power-driven riveters and welding jets.

One example of an unnecessary process in what should be mass production may be quoted. Duralumin sheet of a particular gauge needed for wing coverings has been manufactured so far in widths less than that needed in building Battles. In order to make sheets of the proper width, two pieces now have to be fused electrically. Similarly, the company has been trying to make shift in certain assembly work with wooden figs until the proper steel figs can be obtained, and the usual warping troubles have had to be met. The objective of mass production is thus being attained by overcoming difficulties in supply as much as by devising methods for the subdivision of processes, which in turn is notably diminishing the demand for the highest grades of engineering labour.

SHANGHAI VETERAN DEAD

A resident of the Far East for about 55 consecutive years, most of them in Shanghai, Mr. Carl Herzberg died suddenly in the Paulin Hospital, states the "North China Daily News." One of the oldest of the really old China hands, Mr. Herzberg only celebrated his 80th birthday at the beginning of last month, when this vigorous-minded and humorous old man was the guest at a special cocktail party given him by his children, adult grandchildren and friends.

He leaves behind him his wife and five children, Mr. A. Herzberg, of the Hamburg-America Line; Mr. Max Herzberg, Mrs. Ann Hoffman; Mrs. Staber, at present in New York and whose husband is with the Standard Oil; and Mrs. Minnie Nantz, at present in Manila.

A civil, mining and marine engineer for many years, he was born of German parentage at a little town in Silesia called Schwelbitz on May 9, 1857. He went to school in Waldenburg and Breslau, starting his career as an apprentice in an engineering works in that coal mining and factory district.

BACK FROM THE CORONATION

Japanese Cruiser Due Here

An elaborate plan for the entertainment of the officers and crew of the Japanese cruiser Ashigara, expected to arrive in the Colony next week, has been arranged by the local Japanese community.

The cruiser is on her way back to Japan from the Coronation review of His Majesty King George VI at Spithead.

Rear Admiral Kobayashi will receive the foreign community at an "At Home," besides meeting them at the invitation of the Acting Consul-General, Mr. Okamoto.

On the day of arrival here (expected to be next Saturday) officers and men will go ashore on a sight-seeing tour of the Colony under the guidance of Mr. Takagaki, President of the Japanese Residents' Association.

The Acting Consul General will give a cocktail party for the visitors at his residence in Conduit Road from 4 to 6 p.m.

The rest of the crew will do their sight-seeing on Sunday when the Rear Admiral will be "At Home" on board from 3 to 5 p.m. to leading citizens and officers of the Services. His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government is expected to accept an invitation.

About a score of guests, including ladies, will be asked to take luncheon with Admiral Kobayashi on board the following day.

A private function also arranged for the visitors is a Chinese dinner at which local Japanese will be the hosts. This will probably be on Sunday.

The cruiser leaves on July 5 for the naval base at Sasebo.

T.V. SOONG RETURNS TO CANTON

Having completed his mission to Hong Kong, Mr. T. V. Soong, Chairman of the National Economic Council returned to Canton on Thursday by train.

Before leaving Hong Kong Mr. Soong had interviews with the leading Chinese bankers and financiers, and also called on the Chinese representatives.

It is understood that Mr. Soong's visit to Kwangsi and Yunnan Provinces is still undecided.

It is also understood that Mr. Soong will pay Hong Kong another visit, before returning to Shanghai by steamer.

LOO SHAN CONFERENCE

Wang Ching Wei To Attend

Shanghai, June 25.

According to Mr. Tsang Chung-ming, Dr. Wang Ching-wei's condition is improving, and it is said that he will be able to proceed to Loo Shan to attend Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's special conference of leading civil and military officials of the Government.

Besides his anxiety to attend this national conference, Dr. Wang Ching-wei believes that a stay in the famous Loo Shan Health Resort will greatly benefit his health, and allow him time to recuperate.

It is understood that 14,000 educationalists, officers, junior officials and others from the different provinces will be lectured and given lessons in government by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in his lectures, beginning from July 4 and continuing to September.

CHINESE FILMS

It is reported that the representatives of the South China Cinemas Association invited the local Chinese representatives, and also representatives of the social and educational bodies to a tea party at the Hotel Cecil at 3.30 p.m. yesterday, when they reported the result of their representatives' visit to Nanking for the purpose of petitioning the Nanking Central Government against the suppression of the exhibition of Chinese films in the Cantonese dialect.

At the same time, a proposal for organizing a fête for raising funds for the relief of the famine-stricken nine provinces of North China was also considered.

"The healthiest mattress ever made".

It is made from cellular LATEX, a sponge-like material of light weight and extraordinary resilience, yielding in any direction to the slightest pressure and resuming its normal shape the instant that pressure is removed.

BY THE DUKE

These Are the Things
He Has Said

OF WINDSOR

In his speeches, his written words, and his conversations with those people who were once his subjects, the Duke of Windsor has revealed from time to time his inner heart.

On personal affairs and aspirations he rarely spoke at length. But now and then he passed on his views and simple glimpses of his frank philosophy of life, and now we pass some of those on to you.

"I don't think any man should marry before he is thirty-two."

"I love my ranch in Alberta. When I marry, I hope to bring my wife here for our honeymoon."

HOME

"Home" is such an elementary notion to the great majority of us that we can scarcely conceive life without it. We take it, and all that it implies, for granted, like the very air we breathe. "Ah, I am getting on, you know. Speed doesn't interest me quite as much as it did. I take an interest in comfort and home as well nowadays."

FRIENDSHIP

"Close at hand is a domestic problem, made up, not of political or economic questions, but of men and women, boys and girls."

The Woman I Love

"You must believe me when I tell you that I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility, and discharge my duties as King as I would wish without the help and support of the woman I love."

"My brother has one matchless blessing enjoyed by so many of you, and not bestowed on me—a happy home with his wife and children."

"Each is a single separate personality, beset by depression, labouring under a sense of frustration and futility—a blank wall in front of him which he can neither climb over or scramble round. "Playing the part of neighbour or friend is the short cut to happiness all round."

"Our first friend in life is certainly the doctor. And he is probably also the last."

"There is no sovereign remedy which will ever replace or make obsolete the way of fellowship."

YOUR MOTHER

"Do not forget to do good turns to other people, and especially do your best to help your mothers in your homes."

WOMEN

"It has given me great pleasure," he said to the Australian Digest, "to meet the women who backed you up so well while you were away. Such women are brave indeed."

LEGISLATIVE YUAN PASS BUDGET

Nanking, June 25.
The Legislative Yuan to-day passed the 1937 budget totalling $1,000,649,878, with additional revenue and taxes totalling $145,000,000 and additional reconstruction expenditures totalling $70,000,000.—Reuter.

naturally hope to halt the trend toward devaluation, which has been gradually reducing the pork content of the product.

Although the measure has not yet been submitted to a vote, it is unlikely that any serious opposition will arise to prevent speedy enactment. In fact, a poll of Tennessee breakfast tables probably would elicit a unanimous chorus of "ayes" as to the constitutionality of such an act. The mere suggestion of opposition developing into a test case should make any jurist's mouth water.

GARDENS

"The thought of a garden, with its mingled scents, and riot of colours, comes from time to time as a refreshing breeze, and a reminder that beyond all the noise and bustle there is an England—the England of the gay cottage gardens, the trim flower beds, and the smell of damp earth."

FAMILY LIFE

"It has always seemed to me to be more lucky to be born the eldest son. You don't have to wear your eldest brother's clothes."

THE OPEN AIR

"We have in our very bones the love of the open air and the open spaces."

Asked by a friend what he would like best in life if he could choose, he replied: "A day entirely to myself."

CLOTHES

"Have any of you ever thought why we men all wear these stiff armour-plated shirt fronts? They have caused us, and, in fact, the whole human race, untold misery."

MR. A. HARPER DEAD

Well-Known Figure

We regret to record the death of Mr. Andrew Harper which occurred at his residence in Kowloon yesterday.

Mr. Harper came to the Colony in 1922 as a mining engineer, but returned to the United States after staying here for two years. He obtained the Ford dealership, and came back to the Colony almost immediately and carried on business under the style of Andrew Harper and Company until 1928 when he retired.

Born in U.S.A., Mr. Harper was 74 years of age. He had been ill for about four months, and leaves two sons, Mr. K. E. Harper in America and Mr. W. Harper, managing director of the well-known firm of Wallace Harper and Company. Mr. Andrew Harper had a large circle of friends by whom he will be greatly missed. The funeral takes place this afternoon.

BUS TICKET HOAX

Who Started The Story?

A little Portuguese lad has good reason to feel the most disappointed youngster in the Colony to-day. He doesn't know for sure whether he is the victim of a hoax or not. He feels like kicking someone—he says he is tired of kicking himself!

Reason is that for months he has collected bus tickets, ending in the serial number seven, and when he had 1000, he dashed off to the Kowloon Bus Company and proudly presented his bundle, fully expecting a complimentary monthly ticket in return.

To his utter disappointment and chagrin he was quietly and kindly told that so far as the Company officials knew, no such scheme existed.

His months of careful hoarding wasted!

COMPANY IN IGNORANCE

An official stated yesterday: We were entirely unaware that this practice was going on.

A Kowloon mother said: I wonder how the story got around. I know many children who are collecting tickets and they will be disappointed when they hear the news! Still, it will save them a lot of trouble!

In our issue of June 23, we reported that children in Kowloon had adopted the new hobby of collecting bus tickets, and that in many cases, parents and friends combined with the kiddies in their new tad, as it was thought that every thousand tickets ending with the serial number seven was good enough for a monthly ticket.

CHINESE PRESS WARNED

"Malicious Reports"

Hsinching, June 25.

The Kwangtung Army has issued a statement warning the Chinese Press against their "repeated publication of malicious and groundless reports reflecting upon the prestige of Japanese troops and stirring up Chinese sentiment against Japan and Manchukuo."

The statement says that the continuance of "this childish but pernicious propaganda will be detrimental to the peace of the Far East." Special mention is made of the news published in the foreign and Chinese press in Shanghai disparaging the Emperor of Manchukuo.

The statement also drew attention to the "purely unfounded reports" that a Japanese officer had attacked a White Russian woman aboard a train and accuses the Chinese press of "trying to create ill-feeling among White Russians in China and Manchukuo." It declares that there is no room for doubt of vicious and deceptive propaganda on the part of the Chinese Government in its attempt to disturb the peace of Manchukuo.—Reuter.

THE TIMOR SEA

When the famous aviator, Jean Batten, wanted to fly the Timor Sea her friends did everything possible to dissuade her. Public opinion was so against the attempt that before starting she made a public statement that should she be overtaken by bad weather she did not wish any rescue parties sent out.

Now a new attempt has been made to cross this dangerous strip of sea, but this time by a canoeist. Oskar Speck, the intrepid German canoeist is determined to cross it. It will be remembered that he paddled all the way from Germany to Ceylon, taking three years to travel this tremendous distance.

After leaving Ceylon he crossed over to India, and followed the coast to Burma and finally to the Straits and from there on to Java, where he was laid low by a very severe attack of malaria.

He was expecting to be able to continue his journey and to attempt the crossing of the dangerous Timor Sea in the middle of June, when the weather will be favourable.

News of the completion of his hazardous journey will be eagerly awaited.

MALAYAN REVIEW

Facilities For Higher Education

A Plea for further facilities for higher technical education in the Colony which was made by Dr. Lim Han Hoe at the Legislative Council meeting resulted in an important statement by H. E. the Governor, Sir Shenton Thomas, on the subject of the employment of non-Europeans in the technical services.

Sir Shenton declared he did not see why Malaysians, irrespective of race, should not be appointed to responsible posts in such technical departments as Public Works, Posts and Telegraphs, Customs and others.

A revelation was that an inquiry is being conducted in England by a Raffles College Professor, into the organisation of engineering schools, with a view to the submission of a report to the Government.

Referring to an expression of opinion sought by the Governor at the February meeting of the Council on certain points raised by Capt. N. M. Hashim, in which he put forward his plea for the establishment of a University in Malaya, Dr. Lim went on to say: "Your Excellency said that it would be a guide to Government if the Unofficial Members would express the trend of public opinion in regard to the subject of higher education in this Colony." He wished, he added, to review the existing facilities for higher education in this Colony and to consider what further progress and development should take place.

"I therefore suggest that further progress be made by the early establishment of a Faculty of Engineering in the College. I should like to quote the instance of Nigeria, where there was established in 1934 at Lagos a higher educational course in Civil Engineering and Agriculture. I hope we shall also be able to follow that example."

Demands Of Chinese Workers

The recent labour unrest in Malaya may largely be traced to an increasing understanding on the part of the Chinese workers of the trend of industrial developments overseas, states the annual report of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, Malaya, Mr. A. B. Jordan, issued recently. Chinese labourers of to-day are able to appreciate the significance of newspaper reports of stay-in strikes and Communist agitation in Europe and elsewhere.

The increasing prosperity of Malaya and its main industries led in the later months of 1936 to demands for increased wages from Chinese labour in almost all types of employment. It is recalled that the Chinese employees' main concern is with wage rates. Mr. Jordan says that by comparison the amelioration of conditions of employment is to him relatively unimportant. Given good wages and reasonable conditions he is not prone to listen to the arguments of the agitator. The distinction between the social worker, who is honoured, and the agitator, who is execrated, is not always easy to draw.

The report claims that the demands of the Chinese workers in many cases were settled by negotiation either directly between the parties concerned or with the assistance of the Protectorate, but strikes unfortunately were not infrequent. That a contract between planters and tappers, providing for remuneration on a sliding scale varying with monthly rubber prices, would save a lot of trouble.

Volunteering In Malaya

Commenting on the apathy of the young Europeans to join the Straits Settlements Volunteer Force, H. E. Major-General W. G. S. Dobbie, G. O. C. Malaya, says in his annual report, tabled in the Legislative Council recently, that any man of military age who holds back from taking his share in the defence of the Colony is acting against the interests of his firm and consequently of himself.

In explanation of his assertion General Dobbie claims in his report that the Volunteers form an integral part of the first-line garrison of the fortress of Singapore and of its lines of communication. It is obvious that an attack on Singapore or even a serious threat of such an operation would cause dislocation of the trade of Malaya and of Singapore, Gen. Dobbie says. The principal sufferers from such a state of affairs, he comments, would be the business community, who constitute 75 per cent. of the European residents in the Colony. Gen. Dobbie then stresses the obligation resting on the shoulders of the young Europeans.

During the past year the total strength of the Volunteer Force has registered a small increase, but there is a slight decrease in its European strength. The report says that all arms of military service except cavalry are represented in the S.S.V.F., and it is pointed out that as in addition the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve and the Volunteer Air Force are available to Singapore residents there is consequently no excuse for holding back on the grounds that there is no form of service available which appeals to the particular taste of the individual. The new training camp just completed at Teluk Paku should make training effective and pleasant.

Rather Contradictory

Interest continues unabated on the question of the restoration of the temporary allowances and the fact that evidence has been invited on the point from members of the Subordinate Civil Service is more or less an official admission that the cost of living has gone considerably beyond the existing level of salaries. But why there should be such things as temporary allowances is a matter which is rather above the understanding of the ordinary man. The temporary allowances had their origin in 1917—a period when costs advanced rapidly all round—in order to meet the high cost of living. They were continued until the slump made it imperative that they should be withdrawn in the interests of economy and by that time they had come to be regarded as permanencies. The fact that it should now be considered necessary to consider their restoration is in itself a confession that if the Subordinate Civil Service is not over-worked it is under-paid. If that is not the case, why is it necessary to have temporary allowances at all? Now that the matter is to be considered by a specially appointed committee, the opportunity should be taken to weigh the merits of an adequate salary against the existing salary level plus the temporary allowances. It would simplify matters considerably if the allowances were to be included as salary and the term "temporary allowances" wiped out for all time.

Mr. Ormsby-Gore And Malaya

Very interesting were the speeches made by Mr. J. G. Hay, the president of the Association of British Malaya in London, and Mr. Ormsby-Gore, the Secretary for the Colonies, at the association's annual dinner on May 31. Like Mr. Hay, we are bewildered at the plunges from prosperity into depression with which merchants have to contend, but we agree with him that recovery in Malaya has been hastened greatly by the operation of the tin and rubber control schemes. Malaya remembers that the formation and carrying out of the rubber control was largely due to Mr. Hay himself, who was head of the firm of Guthrie and for long identified with affairs in this country. Mr. Ormsby-Gore's tribute was well deserved when he said, "To you, Mr. President, we owe a debt of gratitude. You are rather diffident about the part you have played in the International Rubber Scheme, and I would like to take this opportunity of tendering my own thanks and that of my predecessors in the Colonial Office for your unflinching wisdom, for your far-sightedness, your open-mindedness and your helpfulness on all occasions. You represent a firm which has been established in Malaya for over a hundred years. Malaya is fortunate in having leaders like you, men of vision to guide and advise us in the future."

Mr. Ormsby-Gore's speech contained the almost inevitable reference in eulogistic terms to the contentment of Malaya. "What," he asked in an eloquent sentence, "are the guns of Singapore and the vast expenditure on air and naval bases unless throughout all communities and all races there is a continuance of that friendship and understanding and goodwill?"

WARSHIPS
WATERSSTATEMENT BY
MR. DUFF COOPER

London, June 25.
In view of various reports regarding warship movements interest attaches to the answer of the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Duff Cooper to the House of Commons at question time this morning.

He said that according to information at his disposal the following French, German and Italian warships passed through Spanish waters yesterday:—French, two cruisers, eight destroyers and four sloops together with five other small vessels; German, one

STRIKE SITUATION
REMAINS TENSE

Port of Spain, June 25.
The strike situation is still tense. An affray occurred today between strikers and police when the former started cutting telephone wires. "The strikes are demanding an increase in wages as well as reduction in the hours of work from the present 54 hours a week to 40 hours." No compromise between employers and employees is in sight and business on the island is at a standstill.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

FOAL PLATE RESULT

London, June 25.
The result of the Foal Plate, run at Sandringham, resulted as follows:—Full Sail (8 to 15) and Sea Tonic (50 to 1), dead-heated for first place. Battle Royal (8 to 1) was third. One length separated the winners from Battle Royal. There were six starters.—Reuter.

EQUALISATION ACCOUNT
INCREASEForeign Traders Not Surprised

London, June 25.
The proposed increase in the British Exchange Equalisation Account did not come as a surprise to foreign exchangers who regarded such a measure as inevitable owing to the fund being choked with gold.

The decision, coming as it does, while France's financial fate is in the balance, speculation is naturally rife whether the increase is possibly connected with any step the French Government contemplates taking for the rehabilitation of French economy.

Some circles believe that M. Bonnet will be advised to allow the franc to find its own level which would be preferable to further devaluation inasmuch, as it would force speculators to abandon a waiting policy.

Such a decision, if coupled with a radical remedial measure, might reverse the flow of French funds thus relieving France's finances. It is pointed out that the other "Tripartite" Powers would probably

Foreign Affairs Debate
In CommonsJAPAN'S SPECIAL INTERESTS
IN NORTH CHINA

LONDON, JUNE 25.
INITIATING THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS DEBATE, SIR ARCHIBALD SINCLAIR FOR THE OPPOSITION AND LIBERALS, SAID THAT RESTORATION ON HONOURABLE TERMS OF THE OLD ANGLO-JAPANESE FRIENDSHIP WOULD BE WARMLY WELCOMED BY GENERAL OPINION BUT HE DID NOT BELIEVE OPINION WOULD SUPPORT THE ARRANGEMENT MENTIONED IN THE JAPANESE NEWSPAPERS, NAMELY RECOGNITION OF THE BRITISH SPHERE'S INFLUENCE IN RETURN FOR RECOGNITION OF THE POSITION IN MANCHURIA AND JAPAN'S SPECIAL INTERESTS IN NORTH CHINA.

THE ANGLO-JAPANESE ARRANGEMENT COULD NOT BE EXCLUSIVE, NOR AT CHINA'S EXPENSE, NOR INVOLVE REPUTATION OF THE LEAGUE RESOLUTION IN RELATION TO MANCHURIA. ON THE OTHER HAND THEY WERE BOUND TO RECOGNISE THE JUSTICE OF JAPAN'S CLAIM REGARDING THE IMPROVED MARKETS FOR RAW MATERIALS.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS

Mr. Eden thought there were certain definite encouraging signs of improvement in the international situation in the Far East. Conversations had been proceeding with representatives of the Japanese Government and there are possibilities of better understanding and better ordering of Anglo-Japanese relations generally, and as far as these conversations have gone they encourage us to hope for a more definite exchange of views which will lead to further progress.

RELATIONS WITH CHINA

Mr. Eden expected it was possible at a very early date to begin examination of concrete proposals. Past mentions of Anglo-Japanese conversations had given rise to anxiety in certain quarters that Anglo-Japanese understanding might be effected at the expense of China. "I desire to renew the assurance already given that His Majesty's Government has no intention of doing anything of that kind. Their relations with the Chinese Government are excellent."

MUTUAL TRUST

"We hope and will work for an increase of friendship and mutual trust between all nations in the Far East and I am convinced an understanding with Japan would in certain conditions contribute to that end."

As regards a Pacific Pact Mr. Eden pointed out that Mr. Lyons's objective was to invite consideration whether anything on those lines was possible, and how to give effect to it rather than advocate a detailed scheme.

PRELIMINARY SOUNDINGS

"The Imperial Conference were united in favouring the pact as a desirable objective and examined the possibilities and difficulties in some detail."

"It is a matter which must be approached with some circumspection and it might be unwise to attempt negotiations until the views of certain other governments were more clearly known."

"We hope shortly to make preliminary soundings amongst those principally interested after which we will be able to decide whether any proposals can be made with any chance of success.—Reuter.

ALARM

London, June 25.
The negotiations on the plan for closing the gaps in the Spanish Control Scheme is making favourable progress.

It is declared in informed circles here that the conferences going on at present between the British and French Governments has reached a point where it is predicted that the sub-committee of the Non-Intervention Committee could be provided with definite proposals by the beginning of next week. It is moreover declared, in contradiction to the growing rumours, that the strength of the fleets of the various nations in the Mediterranean is entirely normal at the present time and that there is no cause for alarm.—Transoceanic News Service.

SIR WILLIAM FISHER

Fought In Battle
Of Jutland

London, June 25.
The death is announced of Admiral Sir William Wordsworth Fisher, K.C.B., C.B., C.V.O., M.V.O., Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth.

Born in 1875, Sir William entered the Royal Navy in 1893 and served in the European War 1914-1917 and was in command of H.M.S. St. Vincent at the Battle of Jutland. He was Chief of the Staff, Mediterranean Fleet, 1919-1922, and Chief of the Staff, Atlantic Fleet, 1922-1923.

Sir William subsequently became Rear Admiral, 1st Battle Squadron, Mediterranean Fleet; Fourth Sea Lord; Deputy Chief of the Naval Staff; and Vice-Admiral commanding the 1st Battle Squadron and Second in Command, Mediterranean Fleet. Sir William was promoted Rear-Admiral in 1922, Vice-Admiral 1928 and Admiral, 1932. He was Naval A.D.C. to the King, 1921-22.

Sir William was an officer of the Legion of Honour and a member of the Order of the Rising Sun of Japan, 3rd Class. He also held the United States distinguished service medal.

Sir William was the son of the late Mr. Herbert Fisher and was educated in H.M.S. Britannia. He married Cecilia, the youngest daughter of the late Mr. F. Warre Cornish and they have two sons and two daughters.

Sir William was created a Knight in 1929.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

ON SICK LEAVE

A British Wireless message states that Sir William died in a London nursing home aged 62. He left Portsmouth on a month's sick leave after attending the official celebrations of the King's birthday. While taking the salute he found it necessary temporarily to retire and rest but resumed his place later. Before taking up his duties at Portsmouth, Sir William Fisher was Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCELittle Interest
For Colonies

The Imperial Conference is ended. We are afraid that the Colonies have had little interest in the conference from the first, because they were not directly represented and experience has shown that the feelings and aspirations of the Colonial peoples cannot be adequately presented when the Colonial Office attempts to speak for all of them, say the "Malaya Tribune." Even if the Secretary for the Colonies were willing, which we take leave to doubt, to put forward with any conviction the desires of the domiciled communities in Malaya, he would not be able to do so, for he is not closely enough acquainted with the facts. He showed that much when he visited the country some years ago, in another capacity, and he has shown it since in his ready acceptance of the famous reports made to him by officials on distress in the F.M.S. His mind appears to be too full of visions of our "floating population" for him to be aware of the extent and the mental and political growth of the permanent population. Apart from that, Malaya has lost whatever little interest it had in the Imperial Conference since it became known that the Dominions, with special reference to Australia, were not showing any enthusiasm for the suggestion that they should do something more commensurate with what Malaya has already done for the huge defence works in this part of the world, defences which are as much for their benefit as ours. We have had grateful thanks, it is true, and that is about all we shall get out of the Imperial Conference of 1937.

BRITAIN'S LEAD
IN TELEVISION
DAY OF BIG SCREENS
AT HAND

British television is well ahead of the rest of the world.

This was emphasised by Lord Selsdon, Chairman of the Television Advisory Committee, when opening the Government Television Exhibition at the Science Museum, South Kensington.

"This country," said Lord Selsdon, "is at present the only country operating a general television service received by people in their own homes."

He paid tribute to the work of Mr. J. L. Baird, who was sitting in the front row. "All here recognise," he said, "that it is by Mr. Baird's genius and courage that the beginning of television in this country was largely due."

"One word of warning" about the financial side of television was given by Mr. R. C. Norman, chairman of the B.B.C., who presided.

"Television" is extremely expensive, far more so than sound broadcasting," he said. "So far there has been no provision for the financing of television. The cost of the programme comes out of part of the licensing fees of the ordinary listener."

PAYING THE BILL

"This may be all right for the moment, but imagine what may happen when the ordinary listener, who will have had no advantage, realises that some of his money is diverted for the benefit of someone else!"

Sir Noel Ashbridge, chief engineer of the B.B.C., said he did not doubt that reception from a greater distance would be obtained.

Many of the exhibitors are trying to increase the size of their screen to give a large picture. That is one of the main tendencies of the exhibition.

The Baird firm is showing a screen giving a picture 20in by 18in, instead of the present 12in by 10in.

WAR-BLINDED MEN AS BUSINESS CHIEFS

Sir Ian Fraser, speaking at a recent sitting of the British Empire Service League Conference in London, said that about 2,000 ex-soldiers, blinded in the War, are living in their own homes in the Empire, all except 200 being in the United Kingdom.

About 1,000 are engaged in handicrafts, 200 in country pursuits, and about the same number in professional and business occupations. A substantial number of craftsmen, who started as home workers, are now master men employing labour.

Colonel Sir John Brown, who presided, said there was not the slightest chance of November 11 being observed as a public holiday in London. If this were done, the Bank-Holiday spirit and a certain amount of junketing would be introduced, which would impair the impressiveness of the Armistice observance.

Mr. Herwald Ramsbotham, Minister of Pensions, said that there were still about 1,000,000 people, men and dependants, who were drawing War allowances from the Ministry.

FEWER DEATHS IN CHILDBIRTH

Percentage Lowest For 14 Years

A reduction in childbirth mortality in England and Wales, both as regards mothers and babies, was revealed by Sir Kingsley Wood, Minister of Health, in his presidential address at the opening session of the seventh English-Speaking Conference on Maternity and Child Welfare at British Medical Association House, Tavistock-square, W.C.1. states the "Daily Telegraph."

Last year's rate for maternal deaths, 3.81 for every 1,000 live births, as compared with 4.11 in 1935, was the lowest figure since 1922. During the last three years the number of children dying under the age of one year out of every 1,000 births for the country as a whole fell for the first time below 60.

On the other hand, investigators obtained the impression that artificially induced abortions, responsible for many maternal deaths, were on the increase.

Of the 800 delegates present from all over the Empire and from the U.S.A., the majority were women. Medical representatives from Sierra Leone, Malaya, and South Africa read addresses or took part in the discussions on "The promotion of maternity and child welfare in backward and rural areas" and "Progressive legislation in connection with maternity and child welfare."

The conference will last until June 3, and will include organised visits to over 40 institutions concerned with child welfare, maternity and child guidance.

HAIG MEMORIAL

Sir Philip Sassoon, the First Commissioner of Works, replying in the House of Commons to Captain Plüger, who asked for information as to when the memorial to the late Earl Haig would be erected, said the casting of the statue in bronze was approaching completion, and he hoped it would be ready for erection at the latter end of this year. The resolution of the House, authorising the statue, was passed on February 3, 1922.

SHEPHERD FIGHTS
AN EAGLE

And Then Takes It Home!

George MacLeod, a shepherd on the moors of Caithness, captured a large golden eagle alive.

He first saw it standing on the bank of a stream. As he approached it took to its wings, but came to earth again after flying only about 400 yards.

Thinking there must be something wrong with it, MacLeod continued his pursuit and finally got close enough to seize it.

The eagle struggled fiercely and it was some time before MacLeod, whose legs bore marks of the battle, succeeded in overpowering it.

He then set out for his house at Backlass carrying the eagle on his back.

It measured 5ft. 7in. from wing tip to wing tip.

The bird was put down on the kitchen floor where it stood contentedly and allowed itself to be petted until two dogs entered, when it at once assumed a fighting attitude.

After examining the eagle and ascertaining that it had not been injured, MacLeod put it in an out-house for the night.

In the morning, as soon as he opened the door, it flew out and soared high into the air, disappearing in the direction of the mountain of Morven, on the borders of Caithness and Sutherland.

OBITUARY

Mr. E. P. Williams, Jr.

The death is announced with regret of another old China hand. Telegraphic advice was received from America recently reporting the death of Mr. E. P. Williams, Jr. through an automobile accident.

Mr. E. P. Williams was for many years the representative of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, Pa., U.S.A. in China. He was a member of the Chinese-American Engineering Association and had a large circle of friends, both Chinese and foreign.

About three years ago he was called back to the United States on promotion, assuming the office of foreign sales manager at the Philadelphia office of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which position he held up to the time of his tragic and untimely death.

JOE LOUIS IN GREAT DEMAND

Chicago, June 24.
Joe Louis, who unquestionably rules the American roost where leather-punchers are concerned, is in great demand; for a fight with the black world's champion will draw crowds, it is felt, no matter who his opponent may be.

Mike Jacobs, who is managing Louis' business affairs, has received a cable from Arthur Elvin of Wembley Stadium offering Louis a title fight in London against either Len Harvey or Jack Doyle. Harvey, a veteran negro, who has been chasing a chance at the world championship for fifteen years, was formerly heavyweight champion of the British Empire. Jack Doyle had the same distinction, but lost it to Petersen in 1935. Neither of these fighters is in the front rank in Europe, and a bout with either would be no better than an exhibition.

Nevertheless, the Wembley Stadium is offering a minimum of £15,000 to Louis, with an alternative of 42 per cent. of the gate receipts, the fight to be staged some time after the second week in August.

If Louis can be enticed into London for a fight in August it is possible that he will remain there to meet either Max Schmeling or Tommy Farr, the outstanding fighters on that side of the Atlantic to-day, all depending upon when these two settle their dispute as to which is the better man.—Reuter.

NO PHILIPPINE SUGAR FOR CHINA

London, June 24.

The protest by Japanese sugar planters against the sale of large quantities of sugar from the Philippines to Chinese markets has resulted in the Philippine decision not to make such sales in future,

although there is no actual obligation to accept this limitation before the sugar agreement comes in force.

YESTERDAY'S OFFICIAL QUOTATIONS

With the bulk of adjustments for settlement handled earlier in the month, the actual settlement, which was reported as considerably passed on quietly. Meanwhile the market continued persistently steady, and prices generally rule somewhat higher. Though closing the week quietly, and with but little doing, no deterioration in market tone is apparent.

Under Sterling investments, Banks sold as high as $2,000, a figure which proved attractive to sellers, but the market is inclined to renewed interest at $1980 or better.

Docks strengthened again, to $33 1/2, and Hotels to $7.35. Trams were a brighter market, up to $15.10. Cements were in enquiry as $15.80 at which price, with sellers still reluctant, buying interest flagged a little. Lights were more active, with $14.30 paid.

Dairies were firmer, with unsatisfied enquiry at $2 1/2. Wharves failed to share in the general interest, and are on offer at $119, with little interest apparent at the moment.

In Manila, turnover continued high till mid week, since when it has slackened perceptibly. Prices generally have held the level prevailing at the close of the previous period reviewed. Firm features were Coco Grove, Paracale Gumaus and United Paracale.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Operations have been started by the Twin Rivers Gold Company, Inc., at its falling plant in the Baguio district, according to a report just issued by W. L. Sheeler, general superintendent. At present about 800 tons a day are being handled, but this figure will be more than doubled as soon as the other flotation unit is in use.

Values so far recovered show a higher average than the original laboratory tests, Mr. Sheeler reports. An assay of all sulphides from bulk flotation ran P40.90 per ton. Another assay, taken on concentrates resulting from a trial of the tube mill in open circuit yielded P29.40 per ton. A sample of selective sulphides from flotation assayed P29.90 a ton, while a sample of closed circuit grinding concentrates ran P40.90.

The flotation end of the mill ran 16 days on try but, Mr. Sheeler reported. During this time 8,400 tons of material were run through one flotation machine, and 600 tons of concentrates recovered.

An average assay of the pile of concentrates stacked on the grinding floor ran P34.30 per ton. The coarse ore product that has been discharged back into the river has good values and will be reground and treated in the cyanide plant as soon as it is completed, Mr. Sheeler reports.

DR. INGE WARNS BRITAIN

"BECOMING SOFT AND UNENTERPRISING"

Need To Return To Puritanism

"We are becoming a soft, pleasure loving, unenterprising race, flocking into the great towns and leaving huge tracts of good land undeveloped," said Dr. W. R. Inge, the former Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, preaching at Winchester Cathedral a fortnight ago. Dr. Inge's sermon was an indictment of the present generation. It was heard by many of the Dominion representatives to the Imperial Conference, who were spending the week-end there.

"The cry to-day is not so much for more pay as for shorter and shorter hours of work," Dr. Inge said. "The increasing hours of leisure are spent mainly in amusements which involve no physical or mental effort whatever—in watching games, listening-in for hours on end—and for the women there is dress and an unpleasant use of cosmetics."

There was less "drunkenness and less violence. The rougher violence was not in favour. The general idea was in favour of the short day's work, and in the words of the advertiser, "You press a button and we do the rest."

What they needed, said Dr. Inge, was a return to the old puritanism, without its harshness and narrowness, but with its plain living, hard working and high thinking.

NEW "DARK AGE" PERIL

Referring to the Empire, he said there were two things which the British flag stood for all over the world. The first was peace. "I frankly cannot understand how any civilised nation which remembers the inextinguishable horrors of the Great War can repudiate them and regard war as an ennobling pursuit," he said. "That is pure atavism, a return to barbarism of the worst kind."

"Europe is the home and cradle of what is best and greatest in human achievement. Yet at any moment, through the criminal stupidity of those who control the destinies of the great nations, all these may go up in smoke, and a new dark age like that which brooded over Europe for 500 years may begin."

The other thing the British flag stood for was liberty. There was a deliberate attempt in Russia to mechanise the standards of life, to do away with free will and individuality.

NO "SCOTCH" SHORTAGE!

Rumours Entirely
Discredited

The rumoured whisky "famine" in the Far East was entirely discredited by several well known local importers when interviewed by a representative of the "Hong Kong Daily Press" yesterday.

Originating in Shanghai from a story given credence in America, it was stated that owing to abolition of prohibition in the United States, this country had increased demand from Scotch and Irish distilleries to such an extent, that supply could hardly keep pace with it.

The Saturday Review (an American magazine) reviewing the situation states: "The United States absorbed 2,400,000 gallons of British spirits last year and will probably call for 3,000,000 gallons this year. All whisky imported into the U.S.A. must have a Government certificate guaranteeing that it is at least four years old. During the slump years far less whisky was distilled than usual, so that a shortage of matured spirit has now to be faced."

One Hong Kong firm "tai-pan" said: "So far as we are concerned we can get all we want. Price might go up but this applies to everything. The position locally is entirely normal, and will remain so as far as I can see."

Another stated: "The Distillers' Agency, which is a very large combine running practically all the proprietary brands, will see to it that stocks of matured products will not run dry. I hardly think the price will increase. I still remember the day when whisky sold locally for $14.50 a case. Look at it now!"

INJURED BY FALL OF LOG

Li Sze, aged 45, street coolie, of No. 849 Canton Road, third floor, was admitted to the Kwong Wah Hospital yesterday, suffering from injuries to both legs and right side of body, caused whilst removing heavy logs of wood from a lorry on to the roadway at Shantung Street near the sea-front.

The injured man was a native of Tolsan district. While removing logs with other coolies he slipped on the wet roadway and the other coolies, unable to take the weight of the log, allowed the log to drop, which unfortunately fell on the victim whose condition, according to a police report, was very serious.

EVANS DUE HERE TO-MORROW

The Siamese Prince, Furness (Far East) liner, with Charles Evans on board, alleged to be implicated in opium smuggling, is not due in port till to-morrow morning, according to wireless communication received here yesterday.

The message received locally, stated that the vessel had been delayed in Cebu, Philippine Islands.

A Reuter cable, dated June 21, revealed that Charles Evans was arrested by the P.I. police shortly after the Javanese Prince arrived in Manila, at the instigation of Hong Kong authorities.

Two other members of this vessel, stated to be a Britisher and an Indian, were also wanted added the Reuter message, but they were believed to have remained in Hong Kong.

AQUATIC GALA SUCCESS

KEEN COMPETITION

The drive by the Chung Shing Benevolent Society for funds for the relief of victims in the devastated districts of N. W. China, met with hearty response yesterday when a large crowd attended the first night of a three-day swimming gala, held at the Society's bathing shed at West Point.

Although rain fell throughout the day, the weather was pleasantly cool when the gala commenced at 7 p.m., and keen competition was seen in the thirty odd events contested for.

The threatening weather conditions did not dampen the ardour of the spectators one quota and they keenly applauded the close races witnessed.

A collection box placed at the door received good support.

The gala will continue this evening, and terminate to-morrow. Several novel features are to be included in the programme, which because of its deserving cause, should receive the keen support of the public.

H.K. AQUARIUM SOCIETY

As announced at the last meeting, the Society has arranged an outing to the Fanling district to-morrow.

All members who wish to participate should meet at the Jordan Road Ferry Pier, Kowloon, at 10 a.m. Those from the Hong Kong side may obtain lifts from car owners if they wait at the Ferry at 9.40-9.50 a.m. Tiffin should be brought. The outing will only be cancelled if a typhoon signal is hoisted.

One large seine net will be supplied by the Society, but all participants are asked to bring nets and large containers. Many persons lost their fishes at the last outing because they attempted to take them home in small containers. No containers can be supplied by the Society.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL RAILWAYS

Mexico City, June 25.
A Government decree has nationalised the railways in the country consisting of 14,000 miles of track. It is stated that private management of railways have been unable to remedy the chaotic conditions of the lines and heavy financial losses and the Government is now forced to take over control.

LAWN BOWLERS CONGRATULATED

The Club de Recreio lawn bowlers, L. A. Gutierrez and B. Basto, who recorded an "eight" in the Open Pairs competition against L. R. Whant and E. Tuck on the Tai Kok green on Thursday, were the recipients yesterday morning of hearty congratulations from a host of bowlers. The Recreio pair won a close game by 24 shots to 21.

It is considered the first time on record that a possible has been obtained in a pairs game in the Colony.

In keeping with a well-established local practice, Messrs. Gande Price, well-known wine and spirit merchants, have sent a bottle of "John Haig" to both bowlers.
